

The background is a collage. On the left, there's a yellow rectangular area with a torn edge, containing the Spanish coat of arms. The coat of arms features a crown at the top, a shield with various symbols (including a castle, a lion, and a sun), and two pillars on the sides. To the right of the yellow area is a vertical strip of green and white, also with a torn edge. The rest of the background is red with a textured, slightly mottled appearance.
